

THE AREA 69

|                     |                                          |
|---------------------|------------------------------------------|
| Success Rate | 66%                                      |
| Attracts     | sci-fi babes, believers, rural chicks    |
| Requirements | a functional flying saucer—just kidding! |
| Prep Time    | none!                                    |
| Bummers      | may attract a real nutbag                |

THE PLAY

1. Identify your target, position yourself next to her, and start mimicking her every move.
2. At this point she will either get creeped out and leave or get creeped out and ask what the hell you're doing. If the latter, you're in business.
3. Tell her you've been sent to Earth to learn more about the human species. Emphasize that you mean her no harm. You're a peaceful alien like Alf or Chewbacca or Mork but without all that body hair.
4. At this point she will either throw her drink in your face or look amazed. If the latter, you're way in business.
5. Now explain that your alien brain doesn't understand human reproduction and let her demonstrate in the flesh. With any luck she'll also come in peace.